Convocation Participants

Rachael Merrill is graduating with a bachelor of arts in applied English linguistics and a minor in Japanese. Born and raised in Colorado with her twin and older sisters, she considers it a great blessing to have brought both her sister and the mountains with her to BYU. Early in her time at BYU, Merrill participated in a multicultural study abroad in Europe, which sparked a deep passion for the people, culture, and languages of the world. She further explored this passion through sociolinguistic research at BYU and the University of Utah. Some of her work is published in BYU's 2024 Asian Studies Student Journal. If you want to find her in her free time, you'll need her sisters' help to track her down—she's probably off on an adventure deep in the mountains. Merrill is excited to go forth and serve through her work at a global nonprofit humanitarian organization in Salt Lake City.

Siena Christensen is graduating with a bachelor of arts in linguistics and minors in Portuguese and linguistic computing. She is also a graduate of the BYU Honors Program. Born and raised in Provo, Utah, Christensen developed a love of language and the humanities from a young age. During her time at BYU, she worked as a neurolinguistics research assistant, a teaching assistant for several linguistics classes, and a Portuguese translator and translation project manager for BYU Speeches. Her experiences at BYU also led her to live in the Language Immersion Student Residence's Portuguese house for several years; intern with NIRx (a brain-scanning technology company) in Berlin, Germany; join the Portuguese honor society; and play violin in BYU's University Orchestra. Christensen loves to run, knit, solve puzzles, and watch films at BYU's International Cinema. She is planning to pursue a PhD in language science at the University of California, Irvine this fall.

Dallin Salway is graduating with a bachelor of arts in linguistics and Spanish studies. During his time at BYU, he was involved in various performance groups, including BYU Men's Chorus and BYU Folk Dance. Salway plans to become an administrator for skilled nursing facilities, using his passion for music, language, and social connection to foster a positive environment. He is grateful to his parents for their unwavering support and encouragement through every challenge.

Beatrice Thurgood Smith is graduating with a bachelor of arts in French teaching and a minor in Spanish. Originally from northern Virginia, she first found her affinity for languages in a Spanish immersion program. As a BYU freshman, she opted to swap Spanish 321 for French 101, and the excitement she felt on the first day of class is a feeling she has never forgotten. A few months later, she received her mission call to serve in the France Paris Mission (2019–2021), with the assignment to teach in Spanish. At BYU, she taught French 101 and 102 courses for two years; she also worked for BYU's French department as a curriculum designer for those same courses. She and her husband, Wesley Smith, are the soon-to-be proud parents of their first daughter. In the fall, Smith hopes to attend BYU's master's program in second language teaching.

Graduation Speaker

Jon Ostenson, associate professor of English, earned a bachelor of arts in English teaching at BYU. While teaching English at Timpview High School, he completed his MEd and PhD in teaching and learning at the University of Utah. He joined the BYU faculty in 2007 and during his time here has primarily taught courses in writing and grammar pedagogy and young adult literature; he has also enjoyed teaching general education courses like UNIV 101 and first-year writing. His research focuses on writing pedagogy, representations of adolescence in young adult literature, and the development of teachers. Ostenson and his wife, Kyla, have four children and five grandchildren. They love traveling, watching British detective shows, and spending time with their family.
